

Sinclair's forcing its stations to air political smears shortly before the election is disgusting. Are there no rules about the airwaves concerning "balanced" news? Or does the guy with the most bucks and the most stations get to say anything he wants, whether it's true or not. Is this absolutely legal and ethical? If not, does the FCC have any teeth whatsoever? Does the FCC care?